INDICATIONS—"Fair weather, slightly warmer."

The fight is on.

It will be a hot one.

Write soap 5 cents, at Calhoun's.

Some new wheat is selling here at 70 cents.

The collector is on his semi-annual round.

There'll be "music in the air" to-morrow, and lots of it.

A timely explanation is made elsewhere, which it will be well to read carefully.

The friends of the proposition claim an easy victory, and that's about the way the "cat will jump."

The Esplanade Springs Hotel Company at Winchester has been granted a liquor license by the Lewis County Court.

Miss Clara Clutter of this city was married recently at Winchester to W. B. Scott, a railroad man.

The old soldiers of Adams County, O., will hold a reunion at Manchester on the 12th and 13th of August.

Don't look on the dark side of any proposition. You can conjure up something terribly awful if you do.

There are about sixty hands employed in the immediate vicinity of Vanceburg, quarrying stone for the railroad.

Bets of two to one are offered that the railroad proposition will carry. It's a cold day when one of them gets late.

The question will be settled to-morrow, and bets of two to one are offered that it will be settled in favor of the proposition.

If you don't want the guarantors to go down in their pockets for cash to help along a public enterprise, then vote for the proposition.

Private citizens shouldn't furnish the cash to further a public enterprise. For this reason, vote for the railroad proposition to-morrow.

Have used Tongalene in neuralgia and acute rheumatism, and am well satisfied with its beneficial effects; have also found it very efficacious in nervous diseases.—G. O. Butler, M. D., Cleveland, O.

Judson A. E. Cox, of Flemingsburg, was in the city Wednesday. His constituents have shown their good sense and appreciation of his sterling qualities by selecting him to succeed himself as Circuit Judge of that district.—Clark County Democrat.

Judson A. E. Cox is at Morehead and has asked Governor Knott for troops to maintain peace while he holds a special term of court. All is quiet now, but the sheriff is disabled by wounds, and Judge Cole thinks troops are absolutely necessary to maintain order.

To most children the bare suggestion of a dose of castor oil is nauseating. Why not, then, when physic is necessary for the little ones, use Ayer's Cathartic Pills? They combine every essential and valuable principle of a cathartic medicine, and being sugar-coated are easily taken.

The Philadelphia Record says: "We shall have illuminating gas in this city of good quality furnished to those who desire to burn it at 90 cents per 1,000 feet. If we do not have it, we will be through the fault of council elected to serve their constituents; but who prefer to enter into arrangements with corporations to swindle the people."

That Contract.

It has been said that the Citizens' Committee has no contract with the railroad company requiring the road to be built. This is not true. They have. The contract was published in the Republican Enterprise several weeks ago, and the writing is now in possession of W. S. Frank, Secretary, and he will take pleasure in showing it to all persons who desire to see it. It is executed under the official seal of the railroad company.

A Wrong Impression Corrected.

People are trying to defeat the railroad proposition in this city to-morrow, by saying that if the subscription of cities and counties amounts to more than the cost of the right of way, that Mr. Huntington will claim the overplus. Now to satisfy any who may have been deceived by such talk and to show that such is not the case, we refer them to the following portion of the contract the guarantors have with the Mayville and Big Sandy Railroad Company:

"It is further understood and agreed between the parties hereto, that whereas the amount said party of the first part will expend for said right of way, it will be furnished to them by the counties, cities, and towns along the route of said railway, now to the amount of any and all payments for right of way."

"The said railroad company agrees and binds itself to issue and deliver to said parties certificates of its capital stock."

The above shows that the railroad company clearly understands, and has so contracted, that all the subscriptions are for the benefit of the guarantors, to enable them to pay for the right of way.

The money arising from said subscriptions is not received by the railroad company at all, and the subscriptions are not in fact for the railroad but for the benefit of the guarantors alone, and the company so understood and bound itself in the contract. Under said contract the railroad company can not claim one cent of the city's subscription or any other subscription, but for the amount expended for rights of way by the guarantors, the railroad company obligates itself to deliver stock to the subscribers.

Thus it will be seen that every dollar of subscription paid for rights of way, will be repaid with stock in a first class trunk line railroad, which must be very valuable in a few years.

Election of Teachers.

At a recent meeting of the Colored School Board, the following were chosen as teachers for the ensuing year: C. G. Harris, Principal; Miss M. J. Power and Miss Bettie P. Smith, assistants. The Board is composed of Ed. E. Smith, Charles De Bell Gordon and L. D. Henderson.

He will exhibit costumes and discourse upon the habits and social life in Antioch. He will also sing for the audience songs in the Turkish and in the Arabic. All come out and hear something new and interesting. Admission, 15 cents; children, 10 cents.

Excursion to High Bridge.

The Kentucky Central will run an excursion to High Bridge Camp Meeting Saturday July 17, leaving here at 5:45 a. m., going through without change of cars, and arriving at camp ground at 10 a. m. Will leave on return trip at 4 p. m. The celebrated blind preacher, Milburn, Chaplain of the House of Representatives will deliver a lecture, followed by a grand sacred concert participated in by over two hundred voices. Fare for round trip, including admission, from here $2.90; Marshal $2.65, Helena, $2.50; Johnson $2.45.

Defeat Means Repudiation.

Was there not a unanimous desire on the part of the public, of the 10,000 people of this community, to do all that was necessary and donate all the money required to obtain the right of way and thereby secure the early building of the railroad? This will and desire was clearly expressed and manifested in public meetings, in private, and in every way possible. The community said what is necessary to secure this enterprise must be done, and when an obligation by solvent citizens was demanded, the public still said this obligation must and shall be given. So the Magistrates agreed to submit a subscription, the City Council unanimously agreed also to submit a subscription, and then the guarantors stepped forward and by giving the bond, simply executed this public will and demand, and secured the road as the public said must be done. So the guarantors were not acting for the themselves, but for the community and the community's good. They acted in a public capacity, and as the representatives of the city and county. They were upholding the public spirit of the city. They were advancing the public good. So the election to-morrow is simply carrying out this public faith and upholding this public credit. A lack of the proposition means a repudiation of the public faith. Will the citizens do this? We say never! never!

Hauke's Band Leads Them All.

There were five or six bands at the Oddfellows' picnic at Winchester the other day, Hauke's of this city, Frost's of Lexington, and Currier's of Cincinnati, being among the number. The following is what the Clark County Democrat says on the subject:

"One of the most enjoyable features of the big burgo was the excellent music furnished by Hauke's Red Band of Mayville, and the universal verdict of the thousands of strangers was that it was the best organization present. The cornet solos by Mr. John Mathews were superb, and the general playing was long to be remembered. The band is composed of gentlemen in every sense of the word, and will receive a hearty welcome whenever they return to their native grass. Colonel George W. Tudor, the merchant prince, the 'big man with the little voice' is the clever manager of this organization."

Almost every person has some form of scrofulous poison latent in his veins. When this poison develops in scrofulous sores, ulcers, or eruptions, rheumatism or organic diseases, the suffering is terrible. Hence the gratitude of those who discover that Ayer's Sarsaparilla will eradicate this evil.

Letters While on the Stage.

As to postures and gestures on the stage, where many of our bellees really get instructions, few of my readers can have any idea how exactly prearranged they must be in order to secure a favorable and consistent. Nothing in dramatic mimicry is more apt to drop from sublimity to ridicule than the least unbecoming and yet those studies are the likeliest to be unprepared on the first representation of a play. The reason is that at rehearsal the actor and actress concerned in the make-believe are not inclined to be shy of it, or at least the women are prone to avoid realistic postures, and so the scenes are often spoiled before the initial audience by an instant of hesitancy, a bumping of bodies, or an unbecoming posture.

There is one actor, however, in whom his footlights make soon learn to have implicit faith in such sentences as it is said, the Italian tragedian, who has played what he declares to be his last in this country, and is about to return home to tide away the rest of his life. I saw him in Ohio, twice in his last week here, and was astonished by the fact that, in his many years with Dedmore, he had never been derisively on the two occasions. This was true of his loving embraces and his murmured sentences. The actress was Marie Wainwright, a willowy, pliable creature, who was like a wisp in his brave embraces. "All Salvat requires of his leading actress in that matter," said the stage manager to me, "is that she shall give herself up unreservedly to his treatment. He insists, to begin with, that she shall be a true, graceful woman. Such is Miss Wainwright, and so was Viola Allen, who traveled with him most of the season. His demand is that, however much she may regulate her action and posing when separate, she must be entirely limp and negative the instant he takes her in his arms. She must not even exert herself. He pinces her just where he wants her—across his breast, on his shoulder, or what not—and she is simply to be unresisting in his hands. He is physically so strong that she is no burden to him, and he varies the jobs poses according to choice from time to time. I believe that his system is pursued by no other actor."—New York Cor. Boston Herald.

Gerónimo's Capers.

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., July 9.—Gerónimo's generalship has been acknowledged, but now the wily savage comes to the front as a diplomat. It has been a matter of surprise to many why Gen. Miles failed to secure the Papago country. It is now discovered that Gerónimo anticipated Miles, and had his emissaries working among the Pima, Maricopa and Papago Indians, who have been proven beyond a doubt that a half-breed recently arrested on the Maricopa reservation for inciting the Indians to join the Apaches, was an agent of Gerónimo to induce these friendly Indians to act as scouts. It is said that the recent visit of Gen. Miles to Fort Apache was for the purpose of conferring with the White Mountain, Chiricahua and Warm Spring Indians, for their removal from Arizona.

The Result of a Dispute.

GALVESTON, July 9.—A dispute from Wade says: "John Neal and his wife, who were on the Texas coast, were killed by James and Robert Thompson, on John Lemoine's ranch, near the Crockett county line. The Thompsons are desperado characters, continued to fire at Neal after he had fallen. The murder was the result of a dispute about a stock transaction. The Thompsons are at large."

Expelling Knights of Labor.

BOREMAN, Mont., July 9.—At timber line the Knights of Labor supported by all of the non-union men, decided to resist the coal company's order that all striking men leave the gulch. The company at once closed its store and butcher shop. A committee of knights was sent to Boreman for provisions. The situation is threatening, and blood is feared.

Released From the Work House.

PITTSBURGH, July 9.—The 350 miners sent by W. H. R. McDowell to the station on the Fairbank railroad, went out on a strike. They now demand thirty-eight cents instead of thirty-six cents per ton for loading coal. Eight of the men were convicted of conspiracy in the Washington county courts have been released from the work house on an affidavit pending a decision of their case before the supreme court.
